

1. Domestic Partner Tuition Program (DPTP) eligibility is extended to domestic partners of UA administrative, professional, faculty and classified staff employees who are employed at 50% or more of full time equivalence (FTE) and whose employment is expected to continue six (6) months or more; and dependent children of eligible domestic partners. Eligible employees must be employed on the first day of an academic semester or session in order to extend the DPTP for that semester or session to their partner and his/her dependent children. Eligible employees who terminate their employment or transfer to a non-eligible position prior to the first day of classes are no longer eligible to extend the DPTP program to their domestic partner and/or the partner's dependents, and will be responsible for payment of full tuition costs and fees.

Also eligible for the DPTP program are the domestic partner/dependent children of a retired employee who has earned Official University Retirement Benefits from the University of Arizona.

DPTP eligibility does not extend to university affiliates, employees who have been laid off, are on long-term disability, or the surviving domestic partner/dependents of a deceased employee.
