WHAT DO WE DO?

---

UARA is dedicated to serving all faculty and staff retirees through a variety of programs that include informational seminars and news on legislative actions that affect current and future retirees. We publish and distribute to members a retiree newsletter, UA Retiree News, giving information on social activities and life-enhancing programs available to you in the Association, the University, and other community organizations.

---

HOW DO I GET INVOLVED?

---

Membership is open to all University of Arizona retirees and their surviving spouses. You are encouraged to attend and participate in the regular meetings of the Advisory Council, held six times a year at a campus site. There are a number of UARA committees where your expertise can be used to enhance the goals of UARA. You can also enjoy UARA luncheons held throughout the year at special Tucson venues, and to participate in forums and field trips. Even if you are unable to participate directly, your UARA membership dues will help support the many projects that benefit all UA retirees.

HOW IS UARA ORGANIZED?

---

The UARA Advisory Council, made up of your fellow retirees and campus representatives, meets regularly to discuss issues relevant to the Association and make recommendations to the Executive Committee for action. The members of the Executive Committee are elected by the membership. This committee serves as the decision-making body of UARA.

Members of the Executive Committee and the Advisory Council receive no monetary benefits from the Association. In general, all programs are organized and conducted by volunteers.
