

DEPENDENT CHILD TUITION REDUCTION ELIGIBILITY FORM

Complete this page only if you are applying for tuition reduction for a dependent child

All responses are subject to random audit.

To be eligible for tuition reduction, the child must:

- Meet the IRS §152(f)(1) definition of child (son, daughter, stepson, stepdaughter, adopted child, foster child) or be a relative for whom you have legal guardianship AND
- Be claimed as your dependent for federal tax purposes, either as a qualifying child or qualifying relative

As part of the application process, you will need to determine if your dependent child meets the definition of a “child” under IRS §152(f)(1) and is a “qualifying child” or “qualifying relative” under IRS guidelines. Guidance is available on the IRS website in Publication 501: Exemptions, Standard Deduction, and Filing Information. Please see the section on “Exemptions for Dependents”.

Question 7: Support

To meet this test, your child cannot provide more than half of their own support for the calendar year in which the tuition reduction is applied. If you are not sure whether your child provides half of their own support, see the "Worksheet for Determining Support" and additional information provided in IRS Publication 501: Exemptions, Standard Deduction, and Filing Information

Note: If a child is a full-time student, any scholarships received are not considered part of the support provided by the child.

Question 8: Residency

To meet this test, the child must live with you for more than half of the calendar year in which the tuition reduction is applied, except for temporary absences. Temporary absences can include special circumstances such as illness, education, business, vacation, or military service.

Question 10: Children of Divorced or Separated Parents

Because of the residency requirement, a child of divorced or separated parents is typically the qualifying dependent child of the custodial parent. However, the child may be treated as the qualifying dependent child of the noncustodial parent if all four of the following conditions are met:

1. The parents are divorced or legally separated under a decree of divorce or separate maintenance; are separated under a written separation agreement; or have lived apart at all times during the last 6 months of the year.
2. The parents provided more than half of the total support for the child for the year.
3. The child was in the custody of one or both parents for more than half the year.
4. The custodial parent follows the IRS "written declaration: rules releasing the dependency exemption to the noncustodial parent, and the noncustodial parent attaches all required documentation to the tax return for the calendar year of the tuition benefit.
