Because of the residency requirement, a child of divorced or separated parents is typically the qualifying dependent child of the custodial parent. However, the child may be treated as the qualifying dependent child of the noncustodial parent if all four of the following conditions are met.

- The parents are divorced or legally separated under a decree of divorce or separate maintenance; are separated under a written separation agreement; or have lived apart at all times during the last 6 months of the year.
- The parents provided more than half the total support for the child for the year.
- The child was in the custody of one or both parents for more than half the year.
- The custodial parent follows the IRS “written declaration” rules releasing the dependency exemption to the noncustodial parent, and the noncustodial parent attaches all required documentation to his/her tax return for the calendar year of the tuition benefit period.

NOTES: (1) Any course taken by a graduate student is considered a graduate-level course and charged at graduate-level tuition; (2) Spouses & dependents of employees are not eligible for EAP (therefore, graduate tuition reduction granted to an employee's spouse and dependent children will be fully taxed); (3) If a graduate student drops a course after the 100% refund date, the employee WILL BE SUBJECT TO TAX on the pro rata amount of the QTR/EAP in accordance with the refund schedule percentage. For refund policy, see the Schedule of Classes.

- 3) Eligible employees must be employed on the first day of an academic semester or session in order to use the QTR for that semester or session. Spouse/dependent children must also meet eligibility requirements as of the first day of the semester or session to have the benefit extended to them. Eligible employees who terminate their employment or transfer to a non-eligible position prior to the first day of classes are no longer eligible for the QTR program and will be required to pay full tuition costs and fees.
- 4) Nonresident tuition will not be waived for those registrants who are being billed for nonresident tuition. Nonresident students must contact the Residency Classification Office to update student records to reflect resident status.
